Red Cross

Rev. Mr. Lyron's Letter to the People of Norway

Dear people of Norway: The annual committee on the American Red Cross is laying plans for its membership roll for the year. Rev. Mr. Lyron, who serves the church as its clerk, is exceedingly eager to have the church community

The committee in making its appearance felt sure that if the people of our chapel were really the meaning of the word, they would be supporting their pur-
"Supposing," suggest Mr. L. L. "that a calamity should visit Norway some terrible winter, cold night; suppose that a dreadful malady of the people should break out, and that the physicians; or supposing some unworldly, unwholesome creature of the night should come out of the night to the populace, where do you suppose the people would turn for assistance? Would they immediately call upon Norway? or would they immediately call upon the cities of their chapter of Red Cross? Of course they would and should feel that they had a perfect right to do so."

[illegible]

arriving late home for their meals; they are willing to become unburdened by their possessions because they do not understand; they are willing to wear soles of their shoe leather thin, and people stumble up some ugly irregular steps and get bruised; they are willing to tramp, tramp, tramp in the rain all day long; they are willing to let the ill workers of the Red Cross will return do not expect nor receive a shilling cent.

Dear Friend, wherever you are, or where I am, I ask you to kindly support the American Red Cross, when they call upon you for money run your door well. Don't turn down an opportunity which may be yours to help some man, woman or some boy or girl in some city town or our own country who is eager to respond upon you to help them in their troubles. Let me refer to the Red Cross as our common man, the awful times enacted the drought areas last summer. The awful condition existed in twenty-two counties and this emergency created a vast space time activity such as the Red Cross Headquarters, District of Columbia, have created again and again that the work of saving drought relief to more than two million persons could never have been accomplished, if not for the help of the stricken communities who gave us voluntarily of their time. *

It has been estimated that more than 1,000,000 men and women in city, town, village and county, Red Cross Chapters both in the United States and abroad, have contributed more than one million dollars were raised for the poor unfortunate, more than 600 car loads of provisions, tons of clothing for men, women and children. Everywhere singing machines hummed as the workers day after day, turning out goods for the needy, little by little, but in the

In no year of the fifty years since the 1860s, the Red Cross has existed has the absolute voluntary character of its service to the humanity received such great emphasis and support as in this, its past year of its birth.

My brother and sister, whoever you are and wherever you may be I ask you to support such a noble endeavor as the Red Cross. Pay a one dollar bill to our representative when he or she calls with the money to become a member and receive a Little Red Cross sign in your window. God will bless you and remember the words of Jesus Christ, who said, "I know much as you have done it unto or the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Mrs. Clarence H. Downing is spending several days in Mechanic Falls, with the family of Roy Downing.

Mr. Downing expects to return
 Monday, to her work at the Casco Mentile Trust Co., in Norway, after a presence of nearly three weeks.

Mrs. William H. Knightly was taken
the Maine General Hospital at Portland,
Sunday, for observation and treatment.

SOUTH WOODSTOCK

House Warming

Mr. and Mrs. Bernal F. Thurlow of South Woodstock, who were burned out at

"Thank you" party or house warming,

Sunday, Oct. 4. Over one hundred neighbors and friends from Oxford and Woodstock were present. The following program was given:

Card of Thanks (in verse).....All

"Home".....Mrs. B. F. Thurlow

Duet, "I Love to Serve Jesus".....Mrs. A. H. Thurlow

Mrs. A. H. and Mrs. B. F. Thurlow

Motion Picture, When I Went Walking.....

Short Speech.....G. W. C. Perham

Poem, "I Love to Serve Jesus".....Mrs. A. H. Thurlow

Refreshments were served.....All

Kind friends, each one, we thank you

As we've gathered here today

For each friendly act and deed

You have strewn along our way.

No matter how great or small

The kindness in mercy done

As we count them, one by one.

Some things we never understand

As through this life we may go,

Just "why" some things are allowed

I suppose God has a purpose

To mete out to every one.

Although each may be different

There's a goal which must be won.

As we gather together in this life,

Year by year, and day by day,

The things of life we cherish

(Some we plan to keep away)

To see in a few moments pass

In devastating flame.

The ruin of our labors.

The ruin of all our aims!

We might have been cold and hungry,

No shelter nor place to go.

But you all shared our burdens,

Tried to help and to share our joys

Of clothes and food and shelter.

Our blessing to you today is

As we journey day by day,

Today here—tomorrow, where?

Life's path is so uncertain

We're all thankful for blessings,

We are all thankful for life,

May our daily aims be high.

To prepare for eternal life.

All empty-handed again.

So the things to cherish most

Written in Books that can't burn,

In Books that can not be bought.

The sad how dumb beasts suffer,

And God, in mercy, warned us

As just with our lives we fled.

We think we think how we're ourselves

As it were, to stanchion bars,

And think of life as ours and Eternity—oh, so fast!

Till comes an awful climax.

Oh! then, can we stop and think?

Our lives are not really ours—

May just in a moment sink

We think—How good our God is!

For He spared our babes, you see,

And our lives, too, for a speck.

A sweetly thought they may be.

And we hope that with the fire

All mistakes and wrongs of yore

Found their final resting place

Never to return once more.

But if one deed of mercy

Remains that old place can dwell,

We long now to breathe it.

All to those we love so well.

Kind neighbors, friends and kin-folk,

Let us have borne with us a while.

Fourteen years this Christmas eve

We, since we first met your smile.

Joys and sorrows we have shared.

We never do not forget us.

Though we're torn from each other's care,

We'll love to see your faces.

And be mindful of your prayer.

And to the friends we've fled.

We have been our friends before.

Kind friends—the proved and worthy.

May rich blessings lie in store.

We enter now your homes.

As neighbors once more to be.

Altogether, you proved we welcome,

And much kindness we can see.

So, friends, each one, we thank you

As we've gathered here today.

For each kindly act and deed.

You've strewn along our way.

THE GREENWOOD CHURCH

The Greenwood church is forsaken and old,

the pews are deserted and bare.

Hushed are the notes that the organ once relayed.

And the voices once lifted in prayer,

Abandoned for churches more costly and tall.

And walls of more beauty and grace;

It seems to be silently beseeching for all,

The memories that haunted that place.

Though dear to the hearts of the few who are left,

It stands there, forsaken, alone;

The floors have fallen in dust and decay.

And the windows are broken and gone.

And the friendships so sweet and the faces that sailed

BOWKER FARM BUILDINGS DESTROYED

Fire destroyed the James Bowker farm buildings, near Mt. Arden, Wednesday afternoon. Only one horse and a few articles were saved.

Gilbert E. Shaw's family, who live on the place with Mr. Bowker, were at Paris Hill when the fire was discovered and could save nothing when they reached the scene.

The buildings, a landmark, probably many years more than a century old, consisted of the main house, oil and stable connected. The large barn, three rods east, was also consumed. The house contained valuable antique furniture and heirlooms. Loss in the buildings is estimated about $25,000, with small insurance.
